Many Refugees From Mexico in Las Cruces and Vicinity.

Las Cruces, N. M., June 28.—The repairs on Main street have come to a sudden end, owing to the shortage of asphalt, and the street is almost impassible in places because of the broken rock, dust and sand that came out of the trenches where the water and sewer pipe were laid. The contractors say they will have a large crew of men finishing the work between Bowman and Church streets as soon as the material arrives. In the preliminary test of the pumping machinery at the septic tanks, it was proved that the installation was satisfactory, and that the plant would handle the sewerage from a much larger town than Las Cruces is today.

The demand for rooms and houses by refugees from Maxico continues. Hardly a day passes that does not bring new faces from the auth and at the present faces from the south and at the present time the number of refugees is variously estimated at from 500 to 750 persons estimated at from 500 to 750 persons in Las Cruces, not counting the poorer classes who are living with friends out in the country until the trouble in Mexico is adjusted.
